

Wave reviews for architect's Trump on the Ocean design

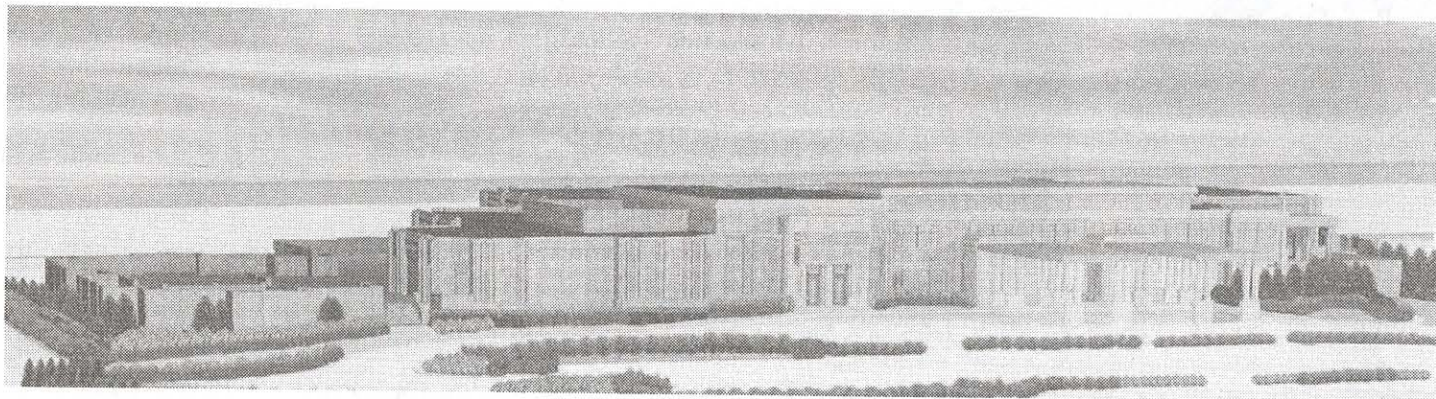

The firm of Frank G. Relf Architect, P.C. announced its involvement as architect in the design and creation of the new Trump on the Ocean Restaurant at Jones Beach.

Developer Donald Trump has partnered with caterer, Steve Carl, to create "Trump on the Ocean," a $40 million upscale catering hall and restaurant on the Jones Beach Boardwalk, at Jones Beach State Park.

Drawings of Frank Relf's designs for this new facility were publicly displayed at a press conference organized by Trump and Carl to unveil the plan last month.

Frank Relf's architectural firm was engaged from the project's inception with Steve Carl to create the original winning design in response to the New York State Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation's Request for Proposal.

"Over the last two years, our office

Relf designed the 36,000 s/f facility is to accommodate as many as 1,400 people.

produced a building design that is both original and creative, capturing the nostalgia apparent in Jones Beach's distinct architectural style, while embodying the State's requirements for the historic aspects of Jones Beach," said Relf, principal of the firm.

"Our professionals spent over a thousand hours in creating our designs. We are proud to be providing the creative and professional talent that will help propel this new facility in becoming a Long Island landmark."

The 36,000 square foot facility, which is designed to accommodate as many as 1,400 people, would take the place of the historic Boardwalk Restaurant which was demolished several years ago.

Added Relf, "Our design of the new restaurant and facility has been well received and has been embraced by the State and the public alike.

"This was a complex and exciting effort and we are pleased to be a part of it."
